DigitalMeeting for PR & Design

Keeping them in the picture...

Without a doubt, the greatest challenge for marketing companies and graphic designers is working in harness with an indecisive but hands on client; and trying to offer excellent customer service whilst politely resisting the request to discuss face to face what will probably amount to one or two small amendments.

It can also take a huge amount of time actually getting the assignment to completion when it might involve the input and sign off of copywriter, designer, printer and of course client.

We are able to offer you an effective, tested and simple business tool which helps you work smarter and bill quicker.

DigitalMeeting provides a unique audio video web package which gives you the opportunity to share and discuss information in a totally secure environment and regardless of whether the participants in that meeting are at work or at home, in the UK or abroad.

If during the meeting you would like to share computer files collaboratively you can do so. Whether this is a pdf file of the latest corporate brochure or an all singing all dancing PowerPoint you have put together for your top client's annual conference.

And of course, DigitalMeeting allows you to demonstrate cutting edge service whilst more effectively working with your clients. It negates the need for travelling and helps you complete that time critical project with less likelihood of burning the midnight oil.

What is more, not only do we provide you with regular reviews on the effective use of DigitalMeeting, we can offer advice and training on how your staff can use this simple method to make enormous savings overall.

Don't just take our word for it

Alongside the standard 24/7 customer care we want to ensure you get the most out of DigitalMeeting which means we also offer:

Business plans – to show precisely where and how you can benefit from the service.

Quarterly reviews – to ensure that DigitalMeeting is being efficiently integrated within your day to day activities.

Training – so that everyone in your organisation is comfortable with the product and able to use it effectively.

Whatever the size of your company we know DigitalMeeting will decrease your travel time and expenses and increase your billing capacity and level of customer service.

Don't just take our word for it:

"As a small growing business, trying to do business internationally, we have found DigitalMeeting to be an invaluable tool. Ease of use was important and the support of the team at technilink is much appreciated"

Ron Carmichael Director Arcturus Ltd
